

Ethics News – April 13, 2018

The Canadian Centre for Ethics & Corporate Policy (“Ethics Centre”) is pleased to provide you by email, on a regular basis, with timely articles from a variety of sources, on ethical issues currently affecting organizations.

In this month’s first article, from the Harvard Business Review, read about being an ethical business in a corrupt environment, and the benefits of taking a stance against corruption.

Access the article at <https://hbr.org/2017/03/being-an-ethical-business-in-a-corrupt-environment>

In our second article, from CNBC, read how Facebook is facing its biggest test ever – and how a lack of leadership could sink the company.

Access the article at <https://www.cNBC.com/2018/03/18/facebook-failing-zuckerberg-and-sandberg-absent-commentary.html>

In our third article, from The Globe & Mail, Erik Heinrich writes how in the #MeToo era ethics training is gaining urgency.

Access the article at <https://www.theglobeandmail.com/report-on-business/careers/business-education/in-the-metoo-era-ethics-training-gains-urgency/article38309832/>

In our final article, a Ryerson University Webcast, listen to a keynote address by Leanne Nicolle on the subject, “Sexual Harassment and Moral Courage in the Modern Workplace”.

Access the article at <https://ryecast.ryerson.ca/12/Watch/12516.aspx>

ETHICS CENTRE is a uniquely Canadian, independent body, dedicated to promoting and maintaining an ethical orientation and culture in Canadian organizations. We champion the application of ethical values in the decision -making processes of business and other organizations.

We welcome your comments – which can be directed to Lois Marsh at lmars@ethicscentre.ca

In particular, we would welcome suggestions for subjects of interest to you.

May we also encourage you, if you are not already a member of Ethics Centre, to consider joining us.

A New Member application can be accessed on our Website at “The Canadian Centre for Ethics & Corporate Policy”.